Great Liner Berengaria Gives Up Search—27

The depot-ship, a 7,500-ton vessel, is not in itself an important ship, but the navy seized the occasion to impress the nation with its own power and glory and to emphasize its demands for record appropriations next year.

Today the Japanese navy has in commission 66 submarines of all types—totaling 72,294 tons. Five more undersea fighters are under construction, four others already ordered.

BABIES BENEFIT BY NEW FORM OF ADOPTION

Ladies of Downing Street Pay Their Expenses for Time Periods

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The ladies of Downing street, headed by Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, are "adopting" babies of the east end of London for the winter. The babies will not be transferred from the east end to Downing street, but they will be looked after in the children's house in the Bow district.

The babies so adopted are the children of mothers who have to go out to work—very often because the father has long been unemployed. Small though the charge is if a baby is left at the children's house during the mother's working hours, it is beyond the majority of these mothers to pay the fee.

The babies are left at the children's house early in the morning, are well cared for throughout the day, and towards evening their mothers or other relatives and sisters call and take them home.

Marquis Turns From Gloria to Constance; Honors Even in Battle for Fan Favor

This is the fourth of six articles on "Hollywood Rivals," by Dan Thomas, Hollywood correspondent for Edmonton Bulletin, revealing the struggles that rage behind the bright lights for filmdom's highest honors.

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—"Miss Bennett, meet the former Marquise de la Falaise de la Courdey; Miss Swanson, meet the Marquise in the flesh!" That, friends, is an introduction any of you might enjoy making. But if you ever do make it, better stand firm between the two movie queens concerned. You might be winged by one of those daggers they'd be looking at each other.

It's just possible that Gloria Swanson might feel all some remark about husband-daughter, though she and the Marquis had separated before Constance Bennett began romancing with him. And then Miss Bennett might make some crack about a really profane woman, being able to hold her husband.

Gloria Swanson, strutting through De Mille sets like a sainted goddess. No one outstrutted her until along came Constance Bennett, the gilded Lily.

Each was able to wear clothes as to be more than merely clothes—they became a ritual. That was when the subject of Hollywood's best-dressed women, it brought up, they are considered completely. Yet no others in the entire film colony can surpass them on the screen in this respect.

Rivals for screen fame, rivals for fan favor, are Gloria Swanson (left) and Constance Bennett (right).

So far as I know, there never has been an actual clash between Gloria and Constance. And they do speak if they happen to meet in public. But their greetings are extremely civil and neither makes any secret of the fact that her life would be a lot more difficult if she never saw the other again.

Furthermore, it was noticed, particularly before Hank legally entered the Bennett family, that the mere sight of Constance was sufficient to draw considerable fire into Gloria's eyes.

As for the professional rivalry, that clothes business, it started with Gloria. She was the first to return to the screen about three years ago.

For years, dating back to the time when she made such a sensational hit to silent films, Miss Swanson's efficiency in wearing clothes has been her chief forte.

Then Miss Bennett came into the picture, bringing with her an equal ability to exhibit feminine garb.

URGENCY OF SOME DIRECTIVE ACTION BEING EMPHASIZED

Two Cabinet Meetings on Wednesday Reviewed Situation—Basis Arms Suggestions From Britain Advised

LONDON, Nov. 16.—New moves in disarmament are being contemplated. The cabinet, meeting Wednesday and again last night, reviewed the position in all its angles. The crisis of despair from Geneva, the repeated shocks to which the world disarmament conference has been subjected, impressed on members of the government the urgency of action if the conference is to be saved.

From influential quarters came the representation that the government should be prepared to make some bold move, such as was made when Prime Minister MacDonald submitted the British draft disarmament convention last spring. This was the first to include concrete figures for armaments reduction and was accepted by the disarmament conference, Geneva, included, as the basis for discussion.

Changes in the Geneva conference were the subject of a wide discussion in Germany. The period in which Germany was to gain full recognition of her claim to equality was extended from five years to eight. Germany refused to accept a demand for the right to return by obtaining "samples" of armaments for submission under the Versailles treaty and in the end for the second time quit the conference.

It is on these changes in the original draft British plan that the negotiations are likely to turn, if negotiations can be effectively opened.

How to reopen talks? The problem at the moment France says she is willing to examine any proposal Germany may submit. From Geneva Wednesday went forth a call to all members of the conference steering committee, including Germany, urging heads of delegations to return to Geneva.

That every possibility is being investigated to get Germany back into the armaments conference is for granted as the British policy. The British government might follow the excellent old diplomatic method of a "sugar" or a "bait" to draw the British and German delegations to Geneva, declare to the world what they themselves believe would be a fair solution of the present deadlock.

Care in Small Details Of Toilet Aids Beauty

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"
No woman desires beauty so passionately as the one who feels it slipping away from her. With unswerving persistence she pursues various methods of perfecting her fading loveliness. She uses the cream of the toilet aids, adopting the latest and following advice from the experts.

Stunning Dinner Hat
Too often, the woman who is so careful in her toilet aids, neglects the one thing that is the crown of her beauty—the hair. She forgets the little details which mean so much to the preservation of loveliness, and which should never be neglected by the fastidious woman. Foremost among these is the details of beauty care to which I refer to the hair.

Gladys Glad
The hair is the crown of beauty, and the hair is the crown of beauty. It is the hair that gives the face its expression, and it is the hair that gives the face its expression. It is the hair that gives the face its expression, and it is the hair that gives the face its expression.

DOROTHY SAYS KISS IS PASTIME

DEAR MISS DIX—We are six young girls nearly 18 years old and we beg you to answer these questions for us.

First. Are we old enough to know what love is?

Second. Will a boy kiss a girl whether he loves her or not?

Third. Does a boy respect a girl who lets him kiss her?

Fourth. If you love a boy, should you let him kiss her?

Fifth. How can a girl show the affection of the boy she loves?

Sixth. Do you think peeing parties harmful?

Seventh. If boys do not respect girls who indulge in peeing parties, why do they peep with them?

Answer: What a lot of questions! They comprise the whole of the Law and the Prophets of a girl's sentimental life and it would take a Solomon to answer them. But here go my guesses at your riddles, girls:

First. No girl of 17 or 18 knows what love is. She is too immature, her tastes are too unformed. She doesn't know what woman she is going to develop into. The thought she is crazy about today is the fire of tomorrow. What she mistakes for an eternal passion, is just a passing fancy. She plays with a girl does with a doll, but it is no more than a wax doll is a living baby.

When Making Butteholes Children put a lot of strain on butteholes. Therefore you must make them as strong as possible. First make a line where the buttehole is to be. Then make two rows of machine stitches as close together as possible. Cut between the rows. Then buttehole over these stitches. The stitching will last much longer.

WRITERS HEAR R. J. CROMIE OF VANCOUVER

Observations of European Tour Given by "Sun" Owner at Banquet

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—More than 100 members of the writers' club gathered at a banquet here last night in honor of Robert Cromie, publisher of the Vancouver B.C. Sun, to hear his observations of Europe, particularly Russia, gathered recently in a two-month airplane tour of the continent.

Among the sponsors of the banquet was Senator William, O'Brien. The guests included such celebrities as Will Rogers, Rupert Hughes and Lew Phillips and the Metropolitan publishers of Los Angeles, including Harry Chandler, George Young and Dr. F. F. Barnham.

Mr. Cromie returned to North America convinced that from Russia, Russia is winning steadily to modified capitalism and conservatism.

While he said no comparison could be made between Russia and Canada and the United States, he felt that "we are swinging toward Socialism."

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—What is price press?

In Hollywood it's a good servant, perhaps three or four of them. Whatever the number, they must be good. And by that I mean what the average person would regard as super-efficient.

Filmind's celebrated personages select their servants with more care than they do a new gown or a new automobile. In fact, they are quite a prospective servant more carefully for a job must be just as.

Everything about the one appearing for a job must be just as. The slightest deviation from the qualities demanded is sufficient to lose the job.

To keep their jobs in Hollywood, servants must be not only efficient and quick, but psychologists as well. They must know, without being told, just how to act at all given times.

There seems to be nothing which will upset a film player quite as quickly as having the wrong valet or maid. Even the wrong cook, butler, or chauffeur will be a disturbing note into the player's life. Consequently, servants are sought with considerable pains and the right ones kept at any cost.

BING STRUTS IT A BIT

Bing Crosby came up with the situation with her remark:

"Good old Meadows has been in our family now for a good many generations. By arising early, fixing him a soft-boiled egg, a bit of toast and providing him with a lachry for my homecomings at night, I think we'll be able to keep him."

Of course, Bing has exaggerated to some extent—he doesn't carry a lachry. But some of our celebrities do go to almost that much trouble to keep their favorite servants. And as a rule, the servants are extremely loyal to their employers.

ANTICIPATING GARBO

Alma, a colored maid, served Garbo for seven years, from the time the Swedish star entered picture. During the time, she was her mistress' side maid and night, at the studio or at home. And never once did she ever from the "Garbo tradition" and talk about the star's private life although she could have acquired a good many thousands by doing so.

One of her principal duties was bringing coffee to her mistress on the set every afternoon. And she had to know, without being told, just when Garbo wanted her, before she left the trained her successor thoroughly in the art of bringing coffee at just the right time.

ENTERTAINING MAID

Mae West kept her maid, Libby Taylor, for two reasons. Libby Taylor was a good cook and worked at the studio and at home, and in Mae laugh at just the right time.

Mae Drexler has had the same maid, Marie, for 20 years, and as a result their relationship is far deeper than that of employer and servant. Marie is boss, friend, and child to Marie—at all one time.

'MATERIALISM, MACHINE AGE' LECTURE TOPIC

Dr. John Macdonald Speaks to Philosophical Society at 'Varsity'

"Materialism and the Machine Age" was the subject of an address which aroused keen controversy in Convocation Hall on Wednesday evening. Dr. John Macdonald was the speaker and the occasion was the second monthly meeting of the Philosophical Society.

Dr. Macdonald said it is understood throughout that he would not be using the word "materialism" in its religious sense, but in its philosophical application.

He endeavored to show that the Jerusalem who denounces the materialism of the west is not so different from the Jerusalem who does not clearly see something sinister in the impact of the machine on our way of life, and I shall try to show at least in part, what that something is.

CLAIM TRUCKS CARRYING FOR HIRE IN ALTA.
The meaning with which Dr. Macdonald intended to use the words "spiritual" and "material" was given by drawing a distinction between spiritual pleasures and material pleasures.

Dr. Macdonald referred to illustration, in the sense of spiritual, when the imagination must do some of the work of spiritual pleasure, and in the sense of material, when the intellect remains relatively quiescent the better. Here we have a religious enjoyment in almost purely materialistic level.

The experience is raised a point in the work of spiritual pleasure, when the imagination must do some of the work of spiritual pleasure, and in the sense of material, when the intellect remains relatively quiescent the better.

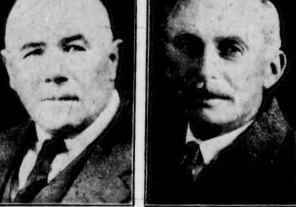

MATERIAL PLEASURE
Thus "a material pleasure is a kind of pleasure that is given, by direct, specific stimulation; a spiritual pleasure is a pleasure that is found, or created."

The second point which Dr. Macdonald stressed was that direct stimulation of the emotions can lead to a craving for such stimulation. The appetite for such stimulation is an appetite in the spiritual sense, and it is the appetite for cocaine or, and its effects, that drive the addict to the presentation of exciting incidents and the presentation, in a certain manner, of the facts and situations relating to sex.

The machine was directly designed to do the work of the world, in having the necessary conditions or what might have been the high spiritual development of the world's history. It proceeded to make that spiritual development impossible by invading the value of play and making men more and more passive and content with the very part of their lives where they ought to be active and creative, namely their leisure.

THE THUNDERBOLTS

Man and said, "Please tell me if you can, just who you look at smiling. I am sure something is irritating you. I think it is a pretty sight. It won't be long until we'll see the sun come shining through." "That's just the trouble! I am soon, all the bunch let a cheer mad! I cannot see why of Blow and to come and spoil my thunder storm. The Thunder Man replied, "I look into water every day, I might have known it wouldn't last. I like to have it dark, and when it's light I run and hide." "It's hot! It's hot!" Blow laughed out. "You'd like to have me leave, no doubt, but I am going to stick around. You can't get rid of me." "You want to fill the sky with noise, which only frightens girls and boys, while I bring out the pretty run, a sight they like to see." Then Blow began to blow some more, and soon the Thunder head went out. "At last I've found it!"

FARMERS ASK COST BASIS IN WHEAT VALUE

Resolution Urges Transactions Below Cost Be Made Illegal

WETASKIWIN, Nov. 16.—Declaring that the present system of marketing wheat is a failure, the Wetaskiwin units of the United Farmers of Alberta, in convention at Wetaskiwin, Wednesday, asked the Dominion government to call a world wheat conference and to suggest that the contribution of the United Farmers be made into a fund to make all wheat transactions at prices below the world average cost of production illegal.

In the same resolution the convention advocated the setting up of a national wheat board to handle all wheat with power to contract for 50 per cent of normal production of individual growers and fairly distribute the wheat demand in excess of the wheat contracted for. The government will also be asked to consider the feasibility of economically transforming the present wheat surplus into some other commodity form.

The chief speakers were W. Irvine, M.P. Wetaskiwin; C. A. Remington, M.L.A. Camrose; Norman F. Priestley, vice president of the U.F.A. and secretary of the C.F.C.

The wheat resolution cited as evidence of failure of the present marketing system a recent statement by Hon. H. H. Stevens, federal minister of trade and commerce, that it had been necessary for the government to purchase hundreds of millions of bushels during the past three years and that the present system did not allow utilization of the cost element in arriving at a wheat value.

Katharine Gazes Into Dim Future

The eyes have it in the photo, which is the newest pose of Katharine Hepburn. The gifted star is eyeing the future with no intimation of what she sees ahead, but she certainly has a "direct" look.
